SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

1. Refugee Chinese bankers now resident in Hong Kong and originally from Shanghai are beginning to blame Generalissimo CHIANG Kai-shek for their present plight and to express a belief that they can "do business" with the new Communist regime in Shanghai. They feel that the officials of the new regime are more competent than their Kuomintang predecessors.
 2. The bankers also believe that their services are needed by the Communists. Notable among such individuals is K. P. CH'EN (CH'EN Kuang-p'u 陳光甫), founder and principal owner of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank, who is currently engaged in studying MAO Tse-tung's New Democracy.
